Detailed Issue Guides

---

1. Missing Item

What it means: An item you paid for was not included in your delivery.

How to report:

1. Check your order confirmation email to confirm the item was ordered
2. Check the delivery bag thoroughly (small items may be hidden)
3. Check the delivery photo (if available) to see if item was left behind
4. Report via app within 24 hours

What happens next:

- We verify with the delivery partner and warehouse
- If confirmed missing, you get refund or replacement
- If item was delivered (per photo/GPS), we'll investigate further

Examples:

- You ordered 3 apples but only 2 were delivered
- You ordered shampoo but it wasn't in the bag
- You thought you ordered milk but it wasn't in your cart (not eligible)

FAQs:

- Q: What if the delivery photo shows the item but I don't have it? A: The item may have been dropped or taken. We'll investigate and usually offer a refund.
- Q: Can I get a different item as replacement? A: No, replacements are for the same item only. Choose refund if you want something else.

---

2. Wrong Item

What it means: You received a different product than what you ordered.

How to report:

1. Compare the received item with your order confirmation
2. Check if it's a similar item (brand substitution) or completely different
3. Take photos of the received item label
4. Report within 24 hours

What happens next:

- We verify the warehouse pick list and delivery photos
- If confirmed wrong, we offer replacement or refund

- You may keep the wrong item (no need to return unless asked)

Examples:

- You ordered Brand X detergent but received Brand Y
- You ordered 1L milk but received 500ml
- You ordered organic bananas but received regular bananas
- You ordered "large" but received "medium" when size was out of stock (this is a substitution)

FAQs:

- Q: Do I need to return the wrong item? A: Usually no. If we need it back, we'll arrange pickup at no cost.
- Q: What if the wrong item is more expensive? A: You'll only be charged for what you ordered. Keep or dispose of the wrong item.

---

3. Damaged Item

What it means: The product you received is broken, crushed, or unusable due to physical damage.

How to report:

1. Do not use or consume the damaged item
2. Take clear photos of the damage from multiple angles
3. Show the packaging condition
4. Report within 24 hours

What happens next:

- We review your photos and delivery records
- If damage is confirmed, refund or replacement is processed
- We may ask for additional photos for investigation

Examples:

- Glass bottle of sauce is shattered
- Electronics box is crushed and item doesn't work
- Bread is squashed flat
- Minor cosmetic dent on a can (doesn't affect use – partial refund may apply)

FAQs:

- Q: What if the item works but packaging is damaged? A: Report under "Packaging Damage" if the product is fine, or here if the product is affected.
- Q: Can I still use a partially damaged item? A: We recommend not using it until the issue is resolved. Using it may affect your eligibility.

4. Leaking Item

What it means: A liquid product has spilled or leaked during delivery.

How to report:

1. Do not open the leaking container further
2. Take photos of the leak and any affected items
3. Take a short video if possible (showing the leak)
4. Report immediately (within hours, ideally)

What happens next:

- This is treated as urgent due to safety and mess
- Refund or replacement is processed quickly (4-24 hours)
- We may ask about other items affected by the leak

Examples:

- Shampoo bottle cap broke and contents spilled
- Juice carton punctured and leaking
- Oil bottle cracked and oil spread to other items
- You opened the bottle and it spilled (not a delivery issue)

FAQs:

- Q: Other items got wet/oily from the leak. What do I do? A: Report all affected items in the same ticket. We'll refund or replace all damaged items.
- Q: Is it safe to touch the leaked liquid? A: Wear gloves if possible. Avoid contact with skin/eyes. Food items in contact with cleaning liquids should be discarded.

---

5. Expired Product

What it means: The product you received is past its expiry or best-before date.

How to report:

1. Check the expiry date on the packaging
2. Compare with today's date
3. Take a clear photo of the expiry date
4. Report within 48 hours

What happens next:

- We verify the expiry date from your photo
- If confirmed expired, full refund or replacement
- We report to warehouse to prevent recurrence

Examples:

- Milk expires tomorrow (best-before passed or very close)
- Snacks expired last month
- Medicine past expiry date
- Product is close to expiry but still valid (e.g., expires in 2 days – report as quality concern, not expired)

FAQs:

- Q: What's the difference between "expiry date" and "best before"? A: Expiry date = unsafe after this date. Best before = quality may decline but usually safe. We accept reports for both if the date has passed.
- Q: What if I already consumed some before noticing? A: Report immediately. If you feel unwell, seek medical advice and let us know – we take this very seriously.

6. Melted Frozen Product

What it means: Ice cream, frozen food, or other temperature-sensitive items arrived thawed or melted.

How to report:

1. Check the item immediately upon delivery
2. Do not refreeze if completely melted
3. Take photos of the melted state and packaging
4. Report immediately (within hours)

What happens next:

- We check delivery time and cooling bag usage
- If delivery was delayed or cooling failed, refund or replacement
- We may not replace if the delay was due to customer unavailability

Examples:

- Ice cream is completely liquid
- Frozen pizza is soft and thawed
- Frozen peas are in a single frozen clump (defrosted and refrozen)
- Ice cream is slightly soft but still solid (normal in hot weather – not eligible)

FAQs:

- Q: Can I refreeze a melted item and still report it? A: No, refreezing can make it unsafe. Report before refreezing so we can assess the actual condition at delivery.
- Q: What if I wasn't home when it was delivered? A: If the item was left at your door and melted due to time outside, this may not be eligible. Ensure you're available for frozen deliveries.

7. Poor Quality Produce

What it means: Fruits, vegetables, or other fresh items are rotten, bruised, moldy, or otherwise inedible.

How to report:

1. Inspect produce immediately upon delivery
2. Take photos of the bad quality (close-ups of bruises/rot)
3. Include photo of the full item for context
4. Report within 24 hours

What happens next:

- We review photos for quality assessment
- Refund or replacement for clearly bad produce
- Minor cosmetic issues may receive partial refund

Examples:

- Apple has a large bruised/rotten area
- Lettuce is wilted and slimy
- Bananas are completely black and mushy
- Banana has a small brown spot (natural ripening – not eligible)
- Apple is small but matches size ordered (not a quality issue)

FAQs:

- Q: What if only part of the produce is bad? A: Report it. We may offer partial refund based on how much is unusable.
- Q: Do I need to return the bad produce? A: No, you can dispose of it. We only ask for photos.

---

8. Incomplete Order

What it means: Multiple items (or your entire order) were not delivered.

How to report:

1. Check all delivery bags thoroughly
2. Count items against your order list
3. Take a photo of everything you received
4. Report within 24 hours

What happens next:

- We check delivery records and partner confirmation
- Missing items are refunded or replaced
- If entire order is missing, we investigate delivery location/GPS

Generated by Kimi.ai

Examples:

- You ordered 10 items but only 3 arrived
- Entire order was not delivered
- One bag out of two was missing
- You ordered 5 items but only 4 were in stock (you were notified – this is a stock issue, not incomplete order)

FAQs:

- Q: What if the delivery partner says they delivered everything? A: We'll check GPS and photos. If there's a discrepancy, we trust the customer.
- Q: Can I get the missing items delivered today? A: We'll try, but re-delivery depends on stock and delivery slots. Refund is usually faster.

9. Substitution Issues

What it means: We replaced an out-of-stock item with something else, and you don't accept the replacement.

How to report:

1. Check if you were notified about the substitution before delivery
2. Compare the substituted item with the original
3. Report within 24 hours if the substitution is unacceptable

What happens next:

- We check if you opted in for substitutions
- If you didn't agree to substitutions, full refund
- If you agreed but don't like the replacement, we may still offer refund
- We improve substitution matching based on feedback

Examples:

- You ordered gluten-free bread but got regular bread (dietary restriction)
- You ordered Brand X diapers size 2 but got size 4
- You ordered organic milk but got regular milk (when you paid organic price)
- You ordered Brand X but got Brand Y which is equivalent (if you approved substitutions)

FAQs:

- Q: How do I opt out of substitutions? A: In your app settings, turn off "Allow Substitutions" or select "Refund if out of stock" for each order.
- Q: Will I be charged more for a substituted item? A: No, you'll only be charged the original item's price. If the substitute costs more, you don't pay extra.

10. Packaging Damage

What it means: The outer packaging is torn, opened, crushed, or otherwise damaged, but the product inside may or may not be affected.

How to report:

1. Inspect packaging before opening
2. Take photos of the damaged packaging
3. Check if the product inside is also damaged
4. Report within 24 hours

What happens next:

- If product is fine: We note the feedback and may offer a small credit
- If product is damaged: Refund or replacement for the affected item
- We report to delivery partner about handling

Examples:

- Cardboard box is torn open
- Plastic bag is ripped
- Sealed package has been opened
- Minor scuff on outer box but completely sealed (cosmetic only)

FAQs:

- Q: The package was opened. Could someone have tampered with it? A: Report immediately. We take tampering seriously and will investigate thoroughly.
- Q: The product is fine but I'm worried about the damage. Can I get a replacement? A: If the product is usable and safe, we typically offer a courtesy credit rather than replacement.

Frequently Asked Questions (General)

Q: How long do I have to report an issue? A: Most issues must be reported within 24 hours of delivery. Expired products have 48 hours. Leaking and melted items should be reported immediately.

Q: Will I get a refund or replacement? A: You can choose either (not both). If you choose replacement and it's out of stock, you'll get an automatic refund.

Generated by Kimi.ai

Q: What if I don't have photos? A: Photos are strongly recommended for most issues. Without them, we may not be able to approve your request. For missing items, we can check delivery records.

Q: Is there a limit to how many issues I can report? A: No, but frequent false reports may be flagged for review. We trust our customers and expect honest reporting.

Q: What if the delivery partner was rude or unprofessional? A: Report this separately under "Delivery Experience" in the Help Center, not under item issues.

Q: Can I report an issue for a gift order? A: Yes, if you placed the order. The recipient should ask you to report it, or you can add them as a contact for future orders.

Troubleshooting Guide

Problem: I can't find the "Report an Issue" button

Solution:

- Make sure the order status is "Delivered"
- Wait 5 minutes after delivery for the button to appear
- Update your app to the latest version
- Try: My Orders -> Order Details -> Help -> Report an Issue

Problem: My photos won't upload

Solution:

- Check your internet connection
- Reduce photo file size (under 5MB per photo)
- Try uploading one photo at a time
- Clear app cache and retry
- If still failing, email photos to support with your ticket number

Problem: I missed the reporting deadline

Solution:

- Report anyway – we may still help on a case-by-case basis
- Explain why the delay happened (e.g., item was a gift, you were traveling)
- For perishable items, delays usually mean no refund

Problem: I got a refund but I wanted a replacement

Solution:

- Contact support with your ticket number
- If the refund hasn't been processed yet, we may be able to change it
- If already processed, place a new order for the item

Generated by Kimi.ai

Problem: The issue is marked "resolved" but I'm not satisfied

Solution:

- Reply to the ticket within 7 days to reopen it
- Explain why the resolution doesn't work for you
- Escalate to a supervisor if needed

Problem: I was charged for an item I didn't receive

Solution:

- Report as "Missing Item" immediately
- If already charged, the refund will include the item cost plus any taxes/fees
- Check your payment method in 5-7 business days

Problem: The replacement item also has an issue

Solution:

- Report the new issue as a separate ticket
- Reference the original ticket number
- We prioritize these cases and usually offer a refund instead of second replacement

Problem: I accidentally reported the wrong issue type

Solution:

- Don't submit a new ticket
- Reply to your existing ticket explaining the mistake
- Support will update the issue type and handle it correctly
